

Sexual Behavior in Children and Youth

Modeling Healthy Technology Behaviors for Young Children

September 24, 2020 | 11:00 AM - 12:30 PM ET

This webinar will provide an overview of the importance for parents and caregivers to model healthy boundaries with technology for healthy child social-emotional development; explain how to support parents and other adults set appropriate examples in their use of technology, including teaching children and youth lessons on consent that are translatable to both in-person and online interactions; and explore how positive examples of technology use by adults can help reduce the risk for children and youth to engage in, or be impacted by, problematic sexual behavior.

Presenter:

Dr. Erin Taylor

Licensed Clinical Psychologist and Assistant Professor,
University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center

Dr. Taylor received her doctoral degree in Clinical Child Psychology from the University of Missouri. She is a member of the University of Oklahoma Problematic Sexual Behavior – Cognitive-Behavioral Therapy Training and Technical Assistance Program, a trainer for the National Center on Sexual Behavior of Youth, and a Co-Director of the evidence-based treatment program for preschool children with problematic sexual behavior.
